"Their recommendation is that as many nurses from the Warner hospital, school nurses and private duty nurses as can take the time to attend these seminars, when they are held, be provided with their expenses by the heart committee. "It is expected, through this procedure, that all local nurses will always be fully informed on the latest techniques in the care of cardiovascular cases."

WOMAN'S ROLE IN WORLD IS
TOPIC OF TALK

Two challenges to women were presented by Dr. Bertha Paulsen, professor of Christian sociology and psychology at the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological seminary, at a meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club Thursday night at the YWCA.

"From our national situation only the American people stand between many nations and the dread communism, and American women have more influence and power than women all over the rest of the world together," she said.

Forty-five members attended the meeting, which was a part of the Public Affairs committee's program. Mrs. Floyd J. King presided.

Revises Her Topic

The topic assigned to Dr. Paulsen was "Woman's Role in a Christian Civilization," but the speaker said that "being doubtful that we have a Christian civilization," she preferred to use as her topic "Christian Women in Our Contemporary Civilization."

She said that industrial and social unrest as expressed in the bitter strikes in this country "have destroyed the hopes of those who thought we could go back to 'before the war.' Women feel they should be able to do something now, and their contribution will differ greatly from that of men, due to their biological role of creator and preserver of life," she said.

"Raise Neurotic Children"
Dr. Paulsen gave the following points upon which women are attacked by sociologists and psychiatrists:

"That they are bad mothers who raise anxious and neurotic children, being too efficient and not loving enough; that by giving their children too much freedom they encourage pre-marital activities starting with 'necking' and 'petting'; that they are unable to make their own marriages a success; that mothers, teachers and professional women believe American youth in a no man's land of no real values and that they neglect and push into misery and the poorhouse the old folks."

She answered these criticisms with the statement that "to some degree these accusations are true, but women are increasingly conscious."

Here And There
News Collected At Random

Another book has come from the pen of Dr. Herbert C. Allen, professor emeritus of Hebrew testament at the Lutheran Theological seminary here. It is titled "Prisoners of Hope" and was printed by the Muhlenberg Press, of Philadelphia.

"Prisoners of Hope" is a collection of essays by a great Christian teacher—essays which represent years of thinking about the central issues of life.

Now past eighty years of age, and with his sight failing, Dr. Allen still maintains that "we are locked up more or less within the walls of limitations and restrictions." He does not pretend to be sustained merely by his own courage and undimmed liveliness of spirit, but by the eternal Presence which shatters the darkness.

Dr. Allen discusses simply and convincingly some of the problems that beleaguer all of us at one time or another. He has much to offer the troubled spirit.

MOOSE ENTER
FLOATS IN TWO PARADES HERE

The local Moose lodge Thursday evening voted to pay for replacing linoleum in the second floor hallway at the Warner hospital and authorized its officers to enter a float and drum corps in both the July 4 parade and the sesqui-centennial parade on September 2.

Cost of placing the new linoleum will be approximately $200, the members were told. Another report disclosed that the room formerly sponsored by the lodge at the hospital has been taken over for office space and that the Moose have been assigned another room to sponsor.

At Thursday's meeting, held in the Moose home on York street with Governor Clifford Harmon presiding, the members indicated that the authorization permitting the officers to provide for a float and drum corps for the two parades will permit them to use their discretion in the type of float to be entered.

A donation of $75 to the Adams county Red Cross was voted.

The lodge voted to join with other organizations of the town and county in an effort to establish a center to provide food and lodging for needy transients passing through the county.

Secretary Charles L. Lauver reported on a proposal of the Fraternal and Social Organization of the county, made up of representatives from most of the fraternal organizations of the county, that such a (Please Turn to Page 2)

The Loyal Order of Moose Lodge No. 1526 of Gettysburg, went on record Thursday night as approving the change of the name of Center square to LINCOLN SQUARE.

Meeting in regular session at the Moose home, the members also went on record as urging borough council to officially change the name of the square, approved the plan of having a statue of Abraham Lincoln in the square and pledged their assistance in committee personnel to promote the project and support it financially.

The action came on a resolution offered by Dr. J. Walter Coleman, superintendent of the local National park and a member of the Moose.

Pedges Financial Aid

The resolution stated: Whereas Gettysburg and Abraham Lincoln, the great emancipator-president of the United States, are synonymous in the minds of free people, and whereas Gettysburg has never properly commemorated the name of Lincoln with a monument,

Therefore be it resolved that the Loyal Order of Moose Lodge No. 1526 of Gettysburg hereby goes on record as approving the decision of The Gettysburg Times to rename Center square as LINCOLN SQUARE and also urges the borough council to formally ordain the square as LINCOLN SQUARE.

Be it further resolved that the Loyal Order of Moose Lodge, No. 1526, also goes on record as approving plans to have a statue erected to Abraham Lincoln in the center plot of LINCOLN SQUARE, that it will provide such assistance as it may be asked in prompting the cause of having a statue erected there, and that it will aid financially in the sculpturing of the aforesaid statue, provided the statue is of such beauty and design as to be a fitting tribute to the author of The Gettysburg Address.

TRUMAN ASKS REPORT ON COAL BY TOMORROW

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—President Truman today asked his fact-finding board in the coal dispute to give him a personal report tomorrow.

The White House announced the President's move amid signs that the government was putting on heavy pressure to get the dispute wound up this week-end.

David Cole, the chairman of Mr. Truman's board, told reporters that government mediators were "shooting for a settlement by Monday."

Cole also suggested that it might be difficult for the court to refrain from contempt action against the miners if their strike continues beyond this week.

The 370,000 coal diggers have defied all this week a Federal Court's order for them to go back to work.

Eben Ayres, assistant Presidential secretary, said the inquiry board has been instructed to appear at 10 a. m. EST. to give the President an up-to-the-date progress report.

Cyrus Ching, chief of the Federal Mediation Service, was asked to sit in on the White House conference along with John R. Steelman, the assistant to the President.

Cole said Monday is the target for a return to work as John L. Lewis and mine operators begin their third successive day of talks.

Hopes were high, because of a secret, three-hour meeting held last night.

At this session, wages and other contract terms were reported to have been discussed more realistically than at any time in the past eight months of the coal contract dispute.

ADmits GuILT AT BUDAPEST

Budapest, Hungary, Feb. 17 (AP)—Edgar Sanders, British assistant to American businessman Robert A. Vogeler, Jr., pleaded guilty today before a Hungarian peoples court to charges of sabotage and espionage.

Sanders was arraigned this morning with Vogeler, 38-year-old assistant vice-president and European representative of International Telephone and Telegraph Co., and five Hungarians. Hungarian treatment of Vogeler has brought strained relations between the United States and Hungary.

The indictment against Sanders, read in court today, charged he had been a British spy since 1940.

Britain charged in a note last night that Hungary had violated standards of civilization and justice in preparing for Sanders' trial.

Vogeler had been expected to be called before Sanders, since he was third on the list of defendants. Apparently, however, the court decided to pass over Vogeler and go on to Sanders.

Bullets Host To Georgetown 5 Here Saturday Night; Matmen Meet Muhlenberg In Afternoon

Three Gettysburg college athletic teams will be in action Saturday, two of which will perform here.

Coach "Hen" Bream varsity cage will meet the strong Georgetown university dribblers here Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Only one game is listed.

Muhlenberg's wrestlers will tangle with the Bullet matmen here at 2 p. m. while the college swimmers meet P. and M. at Lancaster at 3 p. m.

Georgetown will bring one of the strongest teams to appear on the local court this season. Included among its victims are Penn State and Lafayette. Three players on the squad are giants: John Mazzotta, center, 6-5; John Norris, another center, 6-5; and Dan Supkis, 6-7, also a center.

Coach Buddy O'Grady has been using this combination as starters: Alagna, 6-1, and Brown, 6-3, forwards; Mazzotta, center; Capt. Dick Falvey, 6, and Tom O'Keefe, 6-1, guards.

A victory for the unpredictable Bullets will mean the locals will have to go to top speed and form throughout.

Meet At 2 P. M. On Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock the college wrestling team will clash with Muhlenberg.

Coach Clyde Cole's outfit is favored to win over the Mules as the result of its fine record of seven victories in nine meets. Last year Gettysburg won handily 28-3 but anticipated much stiffer opposition this year due to Muhlenberg being reported as much stronger.

The Bullet lineup will probably include Loose, Woods, Sassman, Hoenninger, Riegel, Soult, Diehl and Herschberger.

Tonight the freshman wrestlers and basketball teams will meet Stevens Trade school, at Lancaster, the mat meet starting at 7 o'clock with the cage game following.

ADAMS COUNTY LEAGUE ELECTS

Maynard Stuckey, Cashtown, was elected as president of the Adams County Baseball league at a reorganization meeting held Thursday evening at the American Legion home on Baltimore street.

Robert Moore, Hanover, was named vice president, and John Wetzel, Orrtanna, was elected secretary-treasurer for the fourth straight year.

Four teams were represented at the meeting: Orrtanna, Fairfield, Hanover and Arendtsville. Emmitsburg was represented but reported it will not enter the league this year. Benderville was placed on record as an entry.

The next meeting will be held Thursday evening, March 2 at 7:30 o'clock at the Legion home when by-laws will be approved and other business transacted.

MORE DEMANDS TO END "WAR"

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—Demands piled up today for a new administration effort to end the cold war before it develops into a hot war of atomic and hydrogen bombs.

President Truman indicated to his weekly news conference yesterday that he still has in mind a possible peace mission to Moscow at some future date.

Soon afterward, Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) of the Senate Armed Services committee renewed his plea for Mr. Truman and Secretary of State Acheson to call a world disarmament conference.

This effort should be made, Tydings said, to remove from the minds of Russians and other peoples of the world "the fearful and darkening threat of the possibility of the last great war—which carries with it the possible extinction of all human-kind."

Other demands came from lawmakers and from citizens' groups—most of them with different ideas but with the same objective.

A Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee studied the peace plan offered by Alexander Klein of New York city. The group is considering resolution for strengthening the United Nations. Klein gave the committee an outline of his proposal calling for disarmament with inspection, a world government backed by an international police force, and finally a recovery program to ease economic pressures throughout the world.

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—American arms may soon start flowing to three Asiatic nations as part of the stepped-up administration effort to stop the spread of communism in the Far East.

Officials said the State and Defense departments also may commence giving India a share of the $75,000,000 fund which President Truman has a free hand to use for military purposes in the general area of China.

Class B Title Game Listed For March 31

Harrisburg, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic association today set Friday, March 31, as the date for the class B state championship basketball game.

The PIAA said the tilt would be played "somewhere in the eastern part of the state."

The date, setting the class B game the day before the class A contest, follows suggestions from the smaller schools that their game be played before the annual spring meeting of the PIAA Board of control.

That would give the board an opportunity to hear any protests developing from the class B game. The class A state championships will be held in Philadelphia on April 1—the same day as the board meeting.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
KEEP MOVING!

Many a time I have been caught in a traffic jam on the highway, and heard that familiar command from an officer: "Keep moving, keep moving!" Those words have come to me again and again, when I seemed to be in a mental or spiritual jam, and they have worked like magic.

Coming to my office each day, I travel a congested highway. If the lines are stopped for but a single moment, there is a jam, but if the lines keep moving, there is progress, and the destination not far away. It seems to me that in these two words we all may have a fine motto. Keep moving! It's better to keep moving and lose your way occasionally, than merely to stand and wait and wonder and get nowhere.

In many cases, when trouble comes, or difficult problems pile up on one, there is the temptation to sink, or to despair, but if you keep moving, doing something to relieve the situation, though that something be no more than a brisk outdoor walk to get one's faculties on an even keel, a plain way ahead is sure to be opened up.

We are given an endowment of faith and courage that we may meet emergencies as they arise and be triumphant in them. But we must move out of them if we would be victorious and be on our way to happier events.

Incentive is stirred when there is movement. We are all inspired by activity and progress being made. On my way to work I pause to watch great shovels dig into the earth for a deep foundation to a "sky scraper" building. Each movement made is a step toward the complete structure. That's why it is interesting to watch each movement.

Nothing is so interesting, however, as the movement of a human being through life. No two move the same. But it's the destination that counts. Therein lies the story of success or failure. How important, therefore, are the early movements in life—to be sure that they are made in the right direction, and toward the right goal.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Life Left Behind." Protected, 1950, by The George Matthews Adams Service

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE SPINSTER
The spinster, left by choice or fate To go through life without a mate, Escapes the endless, fretful tasks Which man of every woman asks. She doesn't have to mend his socks, Put back his shirt studs in the box, Or follow him to straighten out The things which he has flung about.

She doesn't have to climb the stair To find the tie he wants to wear And say, the arguments to close: "My dear, it's right beneath your nose!"

She's never told her pie and cake Are not what mother used to make. Yet she may think the happier life Belongs to every worried wife.

Who wonders, while she's forced to wait, What keeps her husband out so late. A man, with all the care he brings, His utter disregard of things: His heedless ways, his endless cries For help to find his shirts and ties; With all his faults, both great and small, Seems better than no man at all.

Flemington, N. J., Feb. 14 (AP)—On Wednesday night Hauptmann was convicted of the murder of the Lindbergh baby during its kidnapping three years ago with death in the electric chair as the penalty.

At the same time John Caskey was presented with a silver Star Scout badge to replace the one given him by President Roosevelt and which he had presented, in a posthumous decoration to the late David Thomas.

THE FIGHT FOR CHRISTIAN FREEDOM

By Rev. Howard R. Gold, D.D.
Margaret C. Gold

Acts 15: 1-6, 22-29; Galatians 2: 16
Memory selection: For freedom Christ has set us free; stand fast therefore, and do not submit again to a yoke of slavery.

—Galatians 5: 1
In his defence before the Sanhedrin Stephen, the first Christian martyr, struck the keynote of Christian freedom. The whole matter came to a climax in a Church conference at Jerusalem and the decisions made there were significant. Paul and Barnabas had been preaching the Gospel with marked success for they had converted both Jews and non-Jews. At Antioch in Syria where these disciples were first called Christians certain problems developed.

Discord in the Church
Presently differences in practice arose. Men came to Antioch from Jerusalem who claimed that Gentiles must be circumcised according to the Mosaic law before they could become Christian and obtain salvation. This posed a real problem. It had come up at an earlier date when Peter had received the Roman centurion Cornelius into the Christian faith without first going through the Jewish ritual.

Here was a situation out of which would come far reaching consequences. Paul and Barnabas might have stubbornly held to their position that true faith in accepting Christ was sufficient. There was the possibility of a real split in the infant church just when it was taking form and becoming effective. Let modern Christians who are so quick in permitting differences of opinion to create serious divisions note how the situation at Antioch was solved. Paul, Barnabas and others were appointed to lay the whole matter before the "apostles and elders," at Jerusalem. This was correct church procedure and also provided a "cooling off" period for the disputing parties.

The Decision
This matter of church membership and salvation for Gentiles as well as Jews was very important. Soon this first great conference of the Church was convened. The agenda was brief but the item of business was momentous. Paul talked privately with the elders—Peter, James and John. Then there was a plenary session. Titus, a recent gentile convert, was present, very likely as Exhibit A. No complete report of the Conference is available but "when there had been much disputing, Peter rose up." His address is not included in the lesson text but it was vigorous and favored Paul's position.

Then came the report from the field given by the two missionaries Paul and Barnabas telling of "the wonders God had wrought among the Gentiles by them." This was no academic discussion but plain proof of faithful witnesses. It was enough. James, the brother of Jesus and head of the Church at Jerusalem, and likely the presiding officers, gave his opinion: "My judgment is that we should not trouble those of the Gentiles who turn to God. . . . Was there a motion made or vote taken there? We do not know. But we do know that "the whole Church" agreed to send a decision in form of a letter to the brethren at Antioch. The letter was to be sent by special messengers thus avoiding any possible embarrassment to Paul and Barnabas.

The Charter of Freedom
This letter is a part of our lesson text. The gist of it is that Gentiles need not first fulfill certain Jewish ceremonial laws in order to become members of the Christian Church and be assured of salvation. In that day this decision was virtually a Charter of Freedom. It prevented having two Churches: One for the Christian Jews; one for the converted Gentiles. It provided freedom from non-essential ceremonial laws. What seems to be a compromise in favor of the "Jewish party" is the direction to abstain from certain foods; also, that they abstain from "unchastity." This latter was prompted by the fact that impurity was a prevalent sin among the Gentiles.

It seems fitting that Paul's fundamental doctrine of justification by faith and not by works (in Galatians) should conclude this lesson, a portion of scripture which shows how differences should be honestly treated; that non-essentials should not lead to divisions in the Church as long as the essentials of the faith are present.

Questions on the S. S. Lesson
1. What question arose at Antioch?
2. To whom was this question referred?
3. Who was the head of the Church at Jerusalem?
4. What decision was reached?
5. What was Paul's central doctrine? Where explained?

Answers
1. Whether Gentiles had to adopt certain Jewish rites to become Christians.
2. The Church at Jerusalem.
3. James, brother of Jesus.
4. Freedom from Jewish law.
5. Justification by faith. In Galatians.

HOME RANGE

By LYNN WESTLAND

De Polo went on with the story. When he told how Far Runner had come to town to see Zachary, to discover the truth of what had happened, every chief bent forward tensely. They had heard Zachary's story, and some of them had seen Far Runner killed. Apparently murdered in cold blood. But this was something new.

"I heard what passed between them," de Polo explained, "and at the time it seemed good to me. They did not know that I was around, nor guess that I understand the tongue of the Wazasi."

"Zachary told Far Runner that it had all been a mistake, the man that Lone Buffalo had killed, and the killing of Lone Buffalo, in turn. That was true. He told Far Runner that the white men wanted only friendship with the red. That, too, was the truth. Then he told Far Runner that gifts would be given him, one for you, White Bear, the father of Lone Buffalo; one for the mother of Lone Buffalo; one for himself. He took Far Runner to a store, and gave him three blankets."

No one interrupted. The light in the lodge was stronger now, as daylight spread outside. De Polo went on, his voice still calm.

"That I heard and saw. I saw Far Runner ride away with the three blankets. I was a little puzzled, but it seemed like a good thing, and fair. But I had observed that Zachary took the gifts of blankets from the store of another man, while that man was away. Then, as soon as Far Runner was gone, Zachary found this other man and told him that Far Runner had stolen the blankets. The other man so testified, later. He said that he would go after the thief, and Zachary spoke no word to stop him, to show him that Far Runner was not a thief."

"That's a lie, from start to finish," Zachary blurted. But the paint showed more hideously than ever on his bloodless face.

"It is the truth," de Polo insisted. "This other man was drunk. He followed Far Runner, and when Far Runner did not stop, because Zachary had told him not to, he shot him and took back his blankets. When that happened, the rest of us were angry, and he told his story. Then I understood what had been going on, and I told what I knew to the chiefs of the white men."

He looked around, while the silence grew oppressive. His voice was like a knell of doom.

"We tried Zachary and found him guilty. But he killed one white man and escaped, and came to you, to urge you on to war, hoping to wipe out all white men, since all white men who knew his story were now his enemies!"

There was silence again, once he had concluded. The same silence seemed to grip the whole camp while all waited for the decision of the chief. The warriors, being keyed to a high pitch, did not know what was going on. But that it was something unusual and important none of them could doubt.

There was no sign of grief or anger in White Bear's face, but his very calmness now seemed to increase Zachary's nervousness.

"Aren't you going to hear what I have to say?" he blurted out.

The chief turned a cold stare upon him.

"We have heard you already," he reminded Zachary. "And now I can see that it was all as these men say—that you lied. Far Runner thought that you had lied before he went to see you. First you fooled Lone Buffalo, who was your own blood brother. Then you betrayed Far Runner to his death, because by so going you could inflame our minds against your own people, for your own profit."

It was a logical summing up of the case, and the slow nods of the other chiefs showed that they were in complete agreement. White Bear turned to de Polo and Valse.

"You have saved us from a grave error, in coming here to tell us this," he added. "Our hearts were set for war, but now there will be no war. With mischief rooted out, there will be understanding between us."

He rose with dignity, the others following his example. A couple of the braves had moved in on either side of Zachary, and he could read his doom in their faces. Something like desperation cracked his voice, which rose high and shrill.

"Do you take their word above my own? Remember, Lone Buffalo was my brother!"

"I am remembering that," White Bear agreed, and his voice was grim as his face now.

"Trib, don't let them do this to me!" Zachary exclaimed. "You can't let them do this to me! After all, I'm a white man!"

The appeal was made in English. But this time it evoked more disgust than pity in Valse. Then he remembered Panda, and her appeal. And he knew the sort of fate which awaited Zachary now at the hands of those he had betrayed. It would be justice—there could be no dispute as to that. Still, it was no white man's justice.

"We were trying him for his crime yesterday," he said, speaking to White Bear. "He had done many things to all of us—to me. We ask that you give him back to us—with the promise that he shall die for the things which he has done."

De Polo translated. But White

Bear's face did not change.

"No," he said. "I admit that you have much against him, for the things that he has done to you. But so do I. Both of my sons lie dead because of him. And you had him, yesterday. He escaped your justice, and came to us. He shall not escape ours!"

New Demands For GOP Harmony Talk

Harrisburg, Feb. 17 (AP)—A new demand came today for a wide-open conference of Republican party leaders of Pennsylvania to slate a "harmony" ticket for the May 16 primary. There was no indication it would be accepted.

The demand was made by Jay Cooke, candidate for the GOP nomination for Governor, on the eve of another strategy conference of supporters of Governor James H. Duff at nearby Hershey.

Duff is a candidate for nomination to the U. S. Senate and the conference on Saturday was called for the declared purpose of slating candidates for governor and other state-wide offices to run with him on the same ticket.

No Agreement In Sight On Phones

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Feb. 24 strike deadline for the nation's Bell Telephone system drew nearer today with no sign of agreement along the major fronts.

The labor-management dispute may even have taken a turn for the worse, despite a local peace move in the state of New Jersey.

Negotiations between the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and District 10 of the CIO Communications Workers of America broke up for the time being Wednesday when union officials left for a convention in Memphis. They do not plan to return until the day before the deadline.

Robert Cressy, the division president, said the Union decided on the

DOUBT WISDOM OF BIG 3 TALKS AT PRESENT TIME

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

That hardy perennial—the call for a meeting of Russia, Britain and America in the interests of peace—is again in bloom and is being viewed with mixed emotions.

None other than Winston Churchill raised this question during a speech in his general election campaign. He suggested a Big Three meeting on the "highest level" to try for agreement on atomic control and a truce in the East-West cold war.

Hard-hitting British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin promptly dubbed Churchill's proposal a political "stunt," and said agreement should be pursued through the atomic committee of the United Nations. Apropos of Bevin's charge, observers noted that if Churchill's Conservative party should be returned to power he would in natural course be Prime Minister again. As head of government he would be in position to initiate such a parley, and this thought might attract votes now.

Agree On Purpose

However, others besides Churchill are advocating action. Newspapers on both sides of the Atlantic are editorializing vigorously pro and con.

There is of course no disagreement over the desirability of reaching East-West agreement. However, there's a vast divergence of views as to whether a meeting of the Big Three would be useful or, indeed, whether it even would be wise to try to arrange one.

President Truman at his news conference yesterday threw cold water on the idea of a Big Three meeting abroad. He reiterated that he doesn't intend to go outside the United States to meet with Stalin or any other chief of state.

Acheson's Stand

Replying to a question whether he thought the time had come to see Stalin, the President said he did not. However, the President said he would be glad to see anyone who wants to come to Washington to consult him. He declared the American door is always open to international negotiation for control of atomic weapons, and he hinted that he still had in mind a possible special peace mission to Russia at some future time.

Only last week Secretary of State Acheson, in a sensational pronouncement of foreign policy, rejected all suggested for new American peace appeals to Russia. Instead he based U. S. anti-communist strategy squarely to a policy of power.

Cold War To Continue

The Secretary declared experience had brought realization that progress towards peace simply by making agreements with Russia is impossible. However, the Soviet government is realistic and adjusts its policies when compelled by facts to do so. So American basic policy is:

"To build situations which will extend the area of possible agreement, that is, to create strength instead of weakness which exists in many quarters."

Moscow has given no sign that it desires to call off its cold war. On the contrary the evidence indicates that the Soviet Union is going all out in its drive to spread Communism. And what else can we expect, with Russia holding her gains in Eastern Europe and making sweeping advances in the Asiatic theatre?

Must Avoid Appeasement Presumably Marshal Stalin would receive a peace mission courteously in Moscow and would enter discussions with it. But there is no reason to believe that such a conference would achieve peace.

On the contrary, many close observers believe that Russia would interpret such a move by the Western powers as an act of appeasement. Any move which might be interpreted as appeasement at this juncture might easily be disastrous. However, this fact shouldn't prevent our taking advantage of every legitimate opening to achieve peace.

Because the company "has no desire to reach agreement with us" until all angles can be settled at once.

This brought a retort last night from H. T. Killingsworth, AT&T vice president and head of the long lines operations, that the division is seeking to bring about government intervention.

WOMEN DOCTORS MARK CENTURY

Pittsburgh, Feb. 17 (AP)—Women doctors today looked back over a century which has seen them slowly fight their way to an established place in the world of medicine.

The occasion is the 100th anniversary of the founding of the women's medical college of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

A banquet here last night marked the opening of a nationwide celebration of a century's contribution to society by the Philadelphia school. It was the first of its kind in the world and today is still the only one in the western hemisphere.

A faculty member, Mrs. Catharine MacFarlane, distinguished for cancer research, traced the growth of women's place in medicine. She started with the day in 1850 when the new college was dismissed disdainfully as "a stern prejudice" which women students and graduates struggled against until the success of the suffrage movement 30 years ago broke down many barriers.

Besides the women physicians' own determination, Mrs. MacFarlane said, their success was due to "many broadminded men—physicians and laymen—who have loyally supported them." She also paid tribute to the state of Pennsylvania.

Poultry Pointers

By FREDERICK BLOCK MANAGING GOSLINGS

Geese are rarely affected by any kind of poultry disease such as chicken pox, Newcastle or the ever-feared bronchitis. Geese are also less frequently attacked by insect parasites than other poultry. However, before going into the raising of geese on a large scale it is necessary to find your market first.

The average American prefers chickens or turkeys, but the millions of people of foreign descent in the United States like geese. The greatest percentage of people of foreign descent live in the larger cities, and these people are the main consumers and processors of geese.

You do not need expensive housing for geese. However, they need shelters in extremely cold and stormy weather. You can use coops, barrels or other shelters, but what is most important about goslings' shelters is to keep them dry, and provided with clean, fresh straw. Young goslings have to be kept dry, and they should be kept confined during their first three to four weeks during mornings until the dew has dried off. A gosling should not be allowed to go into water for a swim before his set of feathers is complete, but should a gosling be "drowned" by heavy rain and discovered in time, he may be revived by drying him in a warm cloth near a good fire.

When you obtain goslings from a hatchery you should not start feeding them before they are 36 to 48 hours old. The best food is stale bread soaked in milk or water. Other kind of foods are scalded cracked corn, or a mash containing four parts of corn meal and one part of middlings. Fresh green grass should be the largest part of goslings' feed, while grain ought to be the smallest part. Goslings require plenty of fresh clean water without which they cannot thrive. After three for its encouragement. There are now eight applicants for each place in the school. Dr. MacFarlane reported. She said enrollment is now 175 and that 36 of the school's graduates are now practicing in the Pittsburgh district.

POLLUTION AND DEER SEASON UP

Harrisburg, Feb. 17 (AP)—A proposed injunction to halt stream pollution and a drive for an open deer hunting season today were firebrand issues before the 19th annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's clubs.

The Allegheny county league of sportsmen asked federation support in its court suit against the New York and Pennsylvania company, a papermill in Johnsonburg, Elk county.

Dauphin county court withheld issuing an injunction last month, but the Allegheny county league is adhering to its claims that the firm is polluting the Clarion river.

The original suit laid equal blame on the commonwealth for having done "little to effect abatement of pollution" in the western Pennsylvania stream. On the agenda of the federation's board of directors today, the issue will go to general meeting of representatives from all weeks of age they do not need any other feed than young green grass until fattening time.

Next pointers will be on goose mating and capons.

BOTH PARTIES CLAIM VICTORY IN GR. BRITAIN

London, Feb. 17 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Clement Attlee pulled up in front of No. 10 Downing street in their 1937 model family car last night, confident they would occupy that address again for the next five years.

It's the official home of the Prime Minister of Great Britain. Both the Labor Party Prime Minister and his colorful opponent, conservative leader Winston Churchill, had finished their various tours of the country to seek votes for the February 23 national elections.

Attlee Covers 1,200 Miles

Attlee, in a whistle-stop campaign that resembled in some respects President Truman's 1948 vote-getting junket, covered some 1,200 miles of British roads—his wife driving. He made 34 scheduled speeches and an untold number of informal talks clear to Glasgow, Scotland, and back.

Churchill, too, was back from a trip by train in which he asked for Attlee's job as Prime Minister, promised to turn the tide of Socialism in Britain and suggested he might bring about new big-three talks that would solve the east-west

Churchill will make his party's last political broadcast tonight. Attlee will continue his campaign by speaking again in his own constituency of Walthamstow, a crowded section of northeast London, after 24 hours rest.

Both Sides Optimistic

On his arrival Attlee told reporters the trip had been "most enjoyable—very fine." Earlier he told a gathering in Leicester he was "very optimistic."

"I am very confident that we are going to win," he said. Lord Woolton, the self-made millionaire who gave up several rich private jobs to run Churchill's party campaign had a different idea. He told the Tory Constitutional club here yesterday: "We are going to win."

The 67-year-old Prime Minister claims little of the dash and color shown by his 75-year-old opponent. But on his tour he drew quite a few cheers and not so many hecklers. He struck mainly to the theme that his labor government had fulfilled all of its 1945 campaign promises. He talked of full employment, "fair share for all" and social security.

TRUMAN TAKES HIS SLOGAN FOR '50 CAMPAIGN

By JACK BELL

Washington, Feb. 17 (P)—President Truman is taking for his 1950 political line. The Republicans are croaking about socialism to hide their own "negative inaction." That brought new GOP challenges today for a November vote test of the issue.

Mr. Truman told a glittering gathering of 5,300 Democrats at the $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson dinner here last night that the Republicans just sit around waiting for the Democrats to propose something.

"Then they react with an outburst of scare words," he said. To the chuckling appreciation of his steak-fed listeners, he added: "They are like a cuttlefish that squirts out a cloud of black ink whenever its slumber is disturbed."

"Not Socialism"

The President called for full speed on "our domestic programs for health, education, social security and economic stability." He said Republican charges that these involve socialism "is an insult to the intelligence of the American people."

Now of course," he said, "this program is not socialism. It is based upon firm faith in the strength of free enterprise."

Confronted by the great record of this country and the tremendous promise of its future, all they (the Republicans) do is croak 'socialism,' he declared.

Taft Has Reply

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who took a leading part in framing the GOP campaign slogan of "Liberty Versus Socialism," told reporters that if Mr. Truman doesn't know his program is socialist "he is being hoodwinked by his ADA (Americans for Democratic Action) and CIO-PAC (Political Action Committee) supporters who have sold him most of its features."

"Police state economic controls, price-fixing, wage-fixing, government operation of steel and utility plants, the farm controls of the Brannan plan, socialized and federalized medicine and repeal of the Taft-Hartley act would duplicate here the program of the Labor-Socialist government in Great Britain," Taft said, adding:

"No wonder Mr. Truman and his friends are publicly praying for a socialist victory in the English election."

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader, challenged Mr. Truman to carry his program to the people in the November Congressional elections—a move the President already has said he will take in what he called a non-political tour of the country.

Billed as the opening Democratic in the Congressional campaign, the President's speech failed to hit

Mae West, Exhausted, Collapses On Stage

Rochester, N. Y., Feb. 17 (P)—Mae West was reported resting comfortably today in her hotel after collapsing last night on the stage of the Auditorium theater.

Miss West, opening a three-day stand in "Diamond Lil," was said to be suffering from "sheer exhaustion." Irving Becker, manager of the company, said this was the report from her physician, Dr. Maurice Maltinsky.

Becker said Miss West would be on hand for tonight's performance. The stride he maintained in his whirlwind 1948 election campaign. Applause was frequent, but never uproarious. Mr. Truman made frequent inserts in his prepared text and ran a little over his 30-minute national broadcast time.

Vice President Barkley and House Speaker Rayburn of Texas supplied also some ammunition against the Democrats.

Democrats came from far and near. But some didn't appear—namely a quartet of southern senators who don't like the President's civil rights program and aren't keen about his spending proposals. These were Senators Byrd and Robertson of Virginia and Eastland and Stennis of Mississippi.

Washington, Feb. 17 (P)—Rep. Earl C. Chudoff, Philadelphia Democrat, has introduced a bill in the House which would authorize the Veterans Administration to take over the army's Valley Forge hospital.

Defense Secretary Johnson has ordered the hospital closed by June 30 as part of a program aimed at greater economy and efficiency in the defense department.

Facts About '49 Income Tax Reports

NO. 4—YOUR DEDUCTIONS

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth of 12 stories explaining who must do what and how about 1949 income tax returns.)

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—Be sure, in filing your 1949 income tax return, that you're getting all the deductions you're entitled to. These deductions for personal expenses—like hospital bills and charitable contributions—are subtracted from your income before what's left of it can be taxed. You have no problem if your income was under $5,000 and your deductible expenses were less than 10 per cent of your income. You'd make your return on form 1040-A or the 1040 short form. Everyone using either of those forms automatically is allowed—without claiming or itemizing—a deduction of about 10 per cent.

If Pays To Check Up That deduction already is taken care of in the tax table used to tell the tax of anyone using either of those two forms. But— If your income was less than $5,000 but your deductions actually were more than 10 per cent, you'll lose money by using form 1040-A or the 1040 short form. Use the 1040 long form. No one using form 1040-A or the 1040 short form gets, or can claim, any more than the approximately 10 per cent deduction explained above. By using the 1040 long form—if your income was under $5,000 but your deductions more than 10 per cent of it—you can claim your deductible expenses in full.

Standard Deduction True, in such a case you'll have to itemize your deductions on the 1040 long form to prove you had them, but you can claim them in full. If your income was $5,000 or more, you can use only the 1040 long form, where you can still choose between a "standard deduction" and claiming your actual deductions in full. A single taxpayer in this group is allowed a standard deduction—that is, he doesn't have to itemize or prove anything—of 10 per cent of his income up to a limit of $1,000 in deductions.

He just takes that 10 per cent as rightfully due him, knocking 10 per cent off his income before applying the tax to what's left. Remember: Those using the 1040 long form must figure out their own tax.

He doesn't have to itemize his deductions unless they're more than 10 per cent. But then, by itemizing, he can claim them to the full extent allowed by law.

Examples Cited

Examples: Smith's income was $5,000. He takes, without itemizing, a standard 10 per cent deduction, or $500. Brown's income was $10,000. He takes the full 10 per cent deduction allowed by law, without itemizing, or $1,000.

But what about Jones whose income was maybe $11,000 or maybe even $30,000? He still can claim, without itemizing, only 10 per cent up to a limit of $1,000, no matter how much above $10,000 his income was. So Jones' total deduction, without itemizing, even though his income was $30,000, can be no more than $1,000.

If Jones' deductions actually ran to more than 10 per cent of his income—and this is true of anyone with over $5,000 income—he can claim them in full but then he'll have to itemize them.

It's different with a married couple whose income was $5,000 or more. If they file a joint return on the 1040 long form, even though the wife had no income, they get a standard deduction—just like the unmarried man—of 10 per cent up to a limit of $1,000, without itemizing.

Another Example

But if one of them files separately, or both file separately there's a limit of $500 in deductions on the return filed. Example:

Smith had $9,000 income, his wife had none, they file jointly. They get the standard 10 per cent deduction of $900, without itemizing. But suppose this same Smith—with $9,000 income and a wife who had no income—files a return alone because his wife fails to file jointly with him.

In that case his standard deduction is only $500. The Smiths have lost on that deal. And—if he files alone and his deductions actually were more than $500, he'd have to itemize them all to prove he had them, although he could claim them all.

(Next: More on deductions and untaxable incomes.)
